Description

Spectacular chandelier dating from the 1970s by Dutch brand Raak, part of the Space Age Design movement.
Made of hexagonal chromed metal, it features 6 spotlights with Plexiglas filters that create blue, orange and green light rings in the shape of small spheres. Each spot also features a thick cylindrical glass pressed with light-diffusing spikes.
This chandelier is a decorative element in its own right, taking on incredible dimensions when lit. A real spaceship!
A few tiny spots of oxidation on the chromed metal are due to the age of the chandelier, but in no way detract from its overall aesthetics.
