Description

Bergère in molded, carved and lacquered wood re-championed in 2 tones of gray. Beautiful carved decoration of palms and laurel leaves, stars, acanthus leaves on the armrest scrolls supported by twisted fluted balusters, the front legs in baluster and the rear in Etruscan sabre. This is a finely crafted Parisian work, worthy of an official commission, but there is no stamp allowing it to be attributed with certainty. Directoire period or around 1800. The format and seat height also lend themselves very well to use as an office chair. Following the example of Jacob chairs from the Tuileries that we offered 2 years ago with the same finishes, we chose to cover this beautiful collectible seat in a duck blue velvet (Maison Lelièvre), which was "struck " or "embossed" by Bonvallet (Laetitia pattern in
