Description

Charming table in rosewood veneer with lemon tree inlaid decorations. This has a top composed in the center of four leaves of rosewood arranged like butterfly wings, accompanied by lemon tree marquetry forming volutes, arabesques and flowers. Around it, an animated garland of light wood accompanies a strip of rosewood veneer arranged diagonally. A second perimeter composed of scrolls and flowers delimits an exterior part also in rosewood veneer arranged against the grain. The top of this small table is surrounded by a molding composed of a groove and a small corbin beak. The facade, still in rosewood veneer, has a floral composition of lemon tree surrounded by a net of light wood. A threaded entry highlights the passage of the key which activates a hook lock allowing the opening
