Description

Beautiful embroidery from silk and chenille threads, a volume embroidery, with relief effect, meticulously organized on a background stretched on raw raw silk. Detailed photos will prove to you that embroiderer was both an expert in handling colors and in ornithology. Eagle represented here, which resembles a Golden eagle, is perhaps a Borelli's eagle, white neck and white spot on base of beak.
In any case, it is a beautiful work, dated 1807, and signed by the embroiderer, whom we thank 2 centuries later.
Original frame, mahogany and engraved boxwood spandrels, (one seems to have been retouched).
Take a good look at our photos.
Good condition, silk, originally hardly tight on its
