Description

Hunting trophy or educational object from the beginning of the 20th century. I opted for the natural science class where during object lessons, the teacher had (sometimes) observe and manipulate the osteology specimen which sat on a board... you know, in the glass cabinet at the back of the room. class.... Between us, this is where I often escaped... I became an explorer, a hunter, an archaeologist and other too distant dreams.... So, this beautiful boar has all its teeth, and we can clearly see that it was powerful when analyzing its grinding molars.
