Description

Pair of very chic acrylic glass table lamps by Ferdinando Loffredo. The conical, clear acrylic base has a ribbed profile at the top and bottom, with a small brass rim at the bottom. The base stands in a square plinth that is also stepped. The lowest part of the base is made of brass and covered with gold leaf (21.5 x 21.5 cm). The gold leaf already has a slightly crackled look and a somewhat rough surface which provides a very attractive contrast to the smooth acrylic. There are 2 sockets and the top of the shade is covered with a solid square brass button at the top. The slightly conical shade with a height of 24 cm is made from a slightly coarser Bourett silk from Dedar Milan. It matches the base perfectly in terms of structure and color. The cognac-colored shade echoes the 1970s color palette of earthy tones.
