Description

Pair of large LXIV style bronze plaques decorated with a "radiant Mascaron" topped with two eagle heads... Originally intended to decorate a beautiful classic piece of furniture (the sides of an imposing chest of drawers, the door panels a piece of furniture at support height or a pair of sheath columns?...), these two applied trims are large in size and constitute in themselves a beautiful decorative element. French work from the 19th century. NB: Shipping possible for France via Colissimo followed: 20 Euros.
