Description

Rare wine bottle coat in silver from the Art Déco period, England 1920s.

Extremely decorative table decoration object.

The mantle can be opened and the bottle placed inside.

The stopper has a cork, so the wine bottle can be resealed with the stopper.

The surface of the object is scored by hand with fine longitudinal grooves.

The handle and the stopper are smooth. The handle has a swing inwards and the object can be opened and closed by the two round buttons.

The object is easy to use and is a real highlight on the table and when serving.

Silver stamp on the bottom with the name Kirby Beard & Co. Ltd.
