Description

Interesting and rare empire style mirror made by Napoleon II, whose molded frame is in alabaster and decorated with empire style bronzes.
the edge is covered with a brass astragal because the alabaster frame is 4 cm thick.
the frame is mony on a wooden base and the mirror itself is protected by zinc.
two very thick and solid fixing rings allow hanging knowing that the whole thing is very heavy.
the mirror itself is old and not very reflective, its tint is almost opaque which gives it an old-fashioned charm.

a rare mirror with an empire style alabaster frame providing an original decor.
