Description

Maison Baguès, by.

Empire or Restoration style chandelier in gilded bronze and black lacquered sheet metal, with six arms of light, allowing the placement of six candles, decorated with swans' necks, whose bobeches end with stylized tassels and are decorated with a fine beaded frieze, ending with acanthus leaves on the main bowl decorated with palmettes in the central part and ending with a stylized acorn. A cup, decorated with a rosette in the central part, supports three stylized spade-shaped chains. The set ends with a decorative bell.

French work realized in the 1950s.
