Description

Elegant sideboard in solid walnut with ashlar panels and dark patina geometric patterns. It has a door in the center with a small drawer in the lower part. The four finely carved feral legs give a touch of refinement to the base of the furniture. One of the particularities of the furniture is the quality of the walnut wood, particularly hard to look like ebony, which highlights the value of the 17th century Florentine-made furniture. Finally, there are some small conservative restorations.
