Description

Very pretty beech armchair with a pretty tapestry in gold and white tones in Directoire style - 19th century The very bright white and gold covering makes it an elegant and refined seat. Classic, this armchair can be placed in living rooms as well as in a bedroom. Comfortable and sophisticated.

Straight solid wood armrests. While the front legs are perfectly straight and sculpted, the 2 rear legs are curved, called sabre-shaped, to give the seat its style. . The backrest is rolled up, characteristic of the Directoire style. Sculpted connection terminal between armrest and foot. The wood is carved, at the level of the armrests and feet, with geometric patterns specific to the Directoire style. France 19th century
