Description

This pitcher bears a signature that we have not been able to identify, everything remains of quality. The ceramics are of quality, we are attentive to the name of the artist. This is a typical zoomorphic pitcher from the 50s or 60s, very dynamic in color. We note that the two horns have been broken and glued back together, some small shocks and chips in places, however this pitcher remains in acceptable condition. Our numerous photos allow you to appreciate the quality of the object. For the condition, please detail the photos. Feel free to zoom in. The photos are an integral part of the description.
