Description

Pretty porcelain plaque entirely hand painted, representing two monks in a scriptorium in the Middle Ages. The first is seated on a seat called a "pincer chair", pen in hand, he creates an illumination. The second one stands up and consults a book. This magnificent work, of great realism, was produced by Pierre Hugo and bears the artist's signature at the bottom right. Our porcelain plaque is sold in a beautiful gold frame. Pierre Hugo was born in 1960 in Boulogne Billancourt. He was a student at the pilot school of Sèvres in the drawing section then he completed his training at the School of Fine Arts in Paris where he left with a very solid training. He specializes in genre scenes and characters from Ancient civilization, the Middle Ages, as well as military costumes. He draws and paints
