Description

Carved Side Table with Elephant Heads, Early 20th Century

Description: Exceptional side table dating from the early 20th century, this piece is distinguished by its artistic finesse and remarkable design. It has four legs sculpted in the shape of elephant heads, testifying to the mastery and precision of the craftsman. These sculptures bring an exotic and elegant touch, ideal for any sophisticated interior environment. The table is made from high quality wood, highlighting the natural beauty of the material. The top is adorned with precious red marble, adding timeless elegance and a striking contrast to the dark wood. Under the main top, a second level offers additional space, practical for storage or displaying other decorative objects.
