Description

Japan, early 20th century, very pretty statue in wood and polychrome plaster with gilding representing the monk Nichiren Shonin (1222-1282), founder of one of the great Zen schools of Mahayana Buddhism called Nichiren Shu during the Kamakura period. The Master is represented in full ceremonial attire, seated on a raised throne. He holds a scroll in his left hand and a scepter in his right hand. The eyes are glass. Presence of gilded brass decorations around the base of the throne. Good state of conservation except for a few chips. The colors are beautifully fresh.

Height 20.5 cm. Width 17 cm. The scale indicator in the last photograph is a small model of a lighter from a brand known to everyone. We take particular care with our packaging by
