Description

Important rug from Macchad, Iran circa 1980 in hand-knotted kork wool, for approximately 360,000 knots per m2, in very good used condition.

Its large size 262 cm wide by 390 cm long is suitable for large living rooms.

This beautiful rug comes from the province of Mechhed, a beautiful, highly crafted piece, with normal wear. Mecched is the second largest city in Iran located in the Northeast, it is nicknamed "the city of a thousand faces."

This rug is in good condition, it has a very beautiful decoration of a large medallion with two large pendants, covering the field.

This medallion represents three stylized flowers next to each other, surrounded by large lotus flowers.

From the medallion and the pendants come numerous interlacings of branches.

All over the field appear fine wavy, flowery scrolls and large bouquets.

The colors of great freshness, lively, have a dominant of a beautiful red, wine lees and deep blue for the field, the border on an ivory background. Note the quality of the wide border with an apricot background lined with numerous narrow friezes, decorated with flowers and a wide central band decorated with floral decoration.

The field with very elaborate central medallion decoration is set by four small spandrels.

The fringes are long, in good condition and clean.

This rug has been professionally and eco-friendly cleaned.
