Description

Violined ceremonial table in blackened pear wood, fully inlaid in the style of André-Charles Boulle's creations, opening with a large drawer. This drawer, with a mahogany interior, is equipped with an authentic lock with a rear key and entrance depicting an important Bacchus mask. The top is decorated with scrolls, foliage and acanthus leaves on a background of tortoise shells and surrounded by a large gadrooned bronze wand. The belt, animated and scalloped, is inlaid with identical decorations, also highlighted with chiseled baguettes. The sides, as well as the opposite face, are worked in the same way. This center table rests on four curved legs presenting devil's Spanish sticks on acanthus leaves. Each of these feet, which have fine bronze strips on the edges, ends in a small openwork shoe. This
