Description

Pair of large chiseled and gilded bronze standing candlesticks with three lights, topped with Dionysus (Bacchus for the Romans) and a Maenad (Bacchante for the Romans). Dionysus is represented dressed in the skin of a beast which he holds in one hand, and in the other the thyrsus, his main attribute. The Maenad in an animated position, her dress twirling, her hands placed on her chest takes us back to the bacchanalia.... Read more.
