cabinetmaker Martin Ohneberg with the JME jurande hallmark. Of German origin, Martin Ohneberg settled in Paris and was appointed master cabinetmaker on July 7, 1773. He was a supplier to the major Parisian haberdashery merchants. Most of its production belongs to the Transition and Louis XVI style, with fine marquetry composed with care, always elegant. Martin Ohneberg was a cabinetmaker of delicate and supple talent, and also an excellent marquetry maker who often used rosewood veneer in sheets of very good quality.
