Description

Ghoum silk carpet, Iran, Shah period, circa 1960.

This refined silk carpet features a golden field decorated with the "Zille Sultan" motif, characterized by a scattering of richly flowered palmettes, crowns, flower vases and floral motifs. diamond shape, all on a beige background with touches of green, red and blue. It is framed by stylized flowers, offering remarkable finesse and very good general condition. It has a density of approximately 11,000 to 12,000 nodes per dm². The pastel colors, lighter and softer to the naked eye, add to its visual charm. Measurements: 357x 255 cm
