Description

This stunning French table/mantel clock, crafted in the Louis XVI style during the 19th century, epitomizes elegance and craftsmanship. Adorned with intricate ormolu bronze detailing, this clock retains its original patina finish, lending it an air of authenticity and charm. Resting on a beautifully decorated console, seamlessly attached to the clock, it exudes a sense of grandeur and sophistication.

Atop the clock sits a captivating putto with wings, gracefully holding a finely detailed lyre, adding a touch of whimsy to its classical design. The clock is lavishly adorned with typical Louis XVI decorations, showcasing exquisite craftsmanship and attention to detail.

The enamel dial, embellished with Latin numerals, is protected by a smoothly operating glass door, allowing for easy access while maintaining its integrity. The back of the movement is safeguarded by a sturdy bronze door, ensuring the clock's longevity. Equipped with an 8-day movement, this clock chimes every half and whole hour, filling the room with melodious tones. Recently cleaned, checked, and oiled by a professional clockmaker, it operates with precision and reliability. Complete with its pendulum, bell, and winding key, this clock is ready to grace any space with its timeless beauty. Its measurements are approximately:

Height: 48 cm (19 inches)

Depth: 18 cm (7 inches)

Width: 33 cm (13 inches)

In excellent condition and in perfect working order, this exquisite timepiece is a testament to the enduring allure of French craftsmanship and design.
