Description

Rectangular enameled gold vinaigrette. The hinged lid is decorated with symmetrical foliage motifs left in reserve on a black enamel background enhanced with white enamel. The lid opens onto a pierced grid, finely crafted and decorated with foliage and foliage organized around a central rosette. This grid made it possible to hold a sponge soaked in bergamot vinegar or another essence.
First part of the 19th century. Circa 1820-1830.
Charles X.
Some wear and tear.
Ram's head in a listel: 1819-1838
