Description

Rare series of four flower girls from the 18th century in earthenware from the south of France, perhaps Thiviers. These flower girls are in very good state of conservation, one or two chips on the collar and another one also on the collar. an old restoration on top of another.

flower girls are rare today and allow bouquets of flowers to be presented in magnificent compositions; their use and beauty have been somewhat forgotten today.

These flower girls have a superb decoration of ferns and blue and green ribbons on a yellow background. the decoration appears in relief with a beautiful simulated ribbon and a beautiful flared shape in the spirit of a planter.

it is very rare to come across such a beautiful
