Description

Superb rectangular garden table Created industrially around the middle of the 20th century, it consists of a rectangular top and an X-shaped base, all in metal. It is entirely painted pale green. The color has patinated over time, taking on different shades. The tray has been partly oxidized by rust, which gives it an unrivaled effect! It has been varnished in such a way as to freeze this aspect over time while protecting it. A good size, it can accommodate 4 to 6 guests very comfortably. It is in very good condition, solid and stable. The thinness of the top and the base makes it a very light piece of furniture. In addition, it is foldable, and a handle judiciously integrated into the base allows it to be easily transported, and therefore, why not, to take it for a luxury picnic!! Circa 1950 Dimensions: -
