Description

These impressive vases, probably of Italian origin and dating from the 19th century, are true artistic gems. Resting on Algerian onyx bases, these Greek-style bronze vases feature handles decorated with busts of two Greek philosophers. Each flower and leaf, strikingly realistic, is meticulously crafted to reproduce nature with astonishing precision, each vein and fold carefully rendered. The delicately depicted insect on one of the vases probably has a symbolic meaning, in harmony with the species of plant selected for the composition. These remarkable pieces are in excellent condition and measure 70x40x30 cm, making them exceptional testimonies to the craftsmanship and artistic refinement of the period. These unique vases would make a spectacular addition to any art
