Description

This remarkable painting by Jules Massé (1825-1899) is a work of the French Orientalist Painter, this beautiful canvas in its beautiful ornamented frame decorated with palmettes and fluted molding decorated with a worked border frame from the mid-19th century in its gilding original bright gold. Student of Delaroche, this recognized artist is a specialist in genre paintings. This scene of frivolous women baring their chests in a souk where an elderly bearded man in a turban raises his hand pointing his index finger in front of a pile of vials, a plate and a closed bag of perfume essence, a seal above his head in a dark setting with an arched door. The loose dresses in raw colors of pink and blue, alluring, let us see their pretty feet, hands and very successful faces and their beautiful chests appear. A beautiful
