Description

Oil on canvas French school Dim with frame 42/34 Dim without frame 32.5/24.5 Carle Vernet (surroundings) Antoine Charles Horace Vernet, known as Carle Vernet, born in Bordeaux on August 14, 1758 and died in Paris on November 27, 1836, is an artist genre and horse painter, designer and caricaturist. Our painting represents a hunt, a theme often addressed by the artist who particularly loved horses. Painting from the beginning of the 19th century where nature is still idealized, the galloping horses are still caricatures. The painting is of quality, as well as the drawing, it is a skillful hand that painted this painting.
