Superb pair of flower pots on removable base, Paris porcelain, one base marked by Pouyat in blue, circa 1800, factory in Locré.

And this beautiful vase on a pedestal in two parts, with two golden lioness head masks, and decoration in shades of sepia and yellow on a purple pink background.

The pots, pierced on bottom, are cones with a wide molded and gilded rim, gilded side rings in relief, wide white border stretched with a thread of gold vine leaves. Decoration of vertical scrolls, beribboned base, placed on an improbable salmon-apricot colored background, rare to find.

The hollow bases are gold on same background.

Very good condition for these 3 pieces which have not suffered too much from their two centuries of good service..... beautiful gilding still fresh, superb colors. What is almost not visible: a slight crack near one ring, (photo), and little chips under bases, inside.

Large vase is flawless, I was unable to remove the central screw to perhaps discover a mark.

No restoration, very little wear.
