Description

Opening half-moon walnut table, Northern Italy early 19th century Large console table supported by 5 Louis XVI style truncated pyramid legs By overturning the upper half top the table transforms into a 144 cm diameter round table

The center leg at the back flows and gives access to a drawer which supports the top When open it can accommodate up to six diners Convenient as a support table or spare table to be placed against the wall like a console

The height for the legs, under the band, is 64 cm Restored and polished with shellac with a wax finish.
