Description

Magnificent pair of ovoid earthenware vases from Savona (Italy) from the late 18th century. They have 2 handles. The vases are rich in decorations of buildings and foliage in shades of blue on one side. The two vases are a little different: one finished with a pretty mascaron and a small tap, the second smaller vase without a mascaron also has a small tap (not present in the photo which will be returned). These two vases were used to serve wine in the Bergerac region. (possibility of purchasing them individually)
