These rugs are knotted in strong, thick, shiny yarn, often dyed with natural dyes and of course hand-spun.

This yarn gives a durable surface and a beautiful color palette.

What they have in common (the Hamadan) is that they are now woven with cotton warp threads and a weft thread between each row of knots.

The patterns are often geometric, but there are also very elaborate floral patterns.

Newer rugs, post-1980, are often made of synthetic colors and lower quality wool than older rugs.

Generally speaking, we can say that Malayer rugs are very good rugs for everyday use.

The family of Hamadan carpets includes types of carpets, such as: Bortchalou, Enjilas, Hosseinabad, Lilihan, Khamse, Zanzan and the Malayer, model that we present.

These carpets are also sometimes sold under the general name of hamadan, carpets which cover many villages.

The carpet has a braid all around which allows old carpets to preserve them very well over time.

This quality piece has been professionally and ecologically cleaned.
