Description

This superb tilting pedestal table from the Napoleon III period is a true masterpiece of 19th century craftsmanship. Made of wood, it is lacquered in a deep black, giving a timeless elegance to the piece. The circular top of the pedestal table is decorated with a richly detailed floral decoration, where various flowers in bright and delicate colors mingle. At the center of this floral arrangement, a bird with multicolored feathers seems ready to take flight, bringing a touch of liveliness and nature to the whole. The central shaft of the pedestal table, finely crafted, rises gracefully to support the top. It ends in a tripod base, composed of three elegantly curved legs decorated with golden patterns, adding a note of sophistication and refinement to the whole. The sturdy and well-balanced legs ensure the
