Description

Description of the 19th Century Antique Lamp

This 19th century antique lamp is a masterpiece of craftsmanship and design, embodying the refined and sophisticated style of the era. It presents a combination of noble materials and remarkable artistic techniques which make it an exceptional collector's item. Characteristics and Materials The lamp is distinguished by its decoration representing two ancient figures, each holding an urn in their hands. The figures are made of bronze with a brown patina, giving depth and richness to the sculpture. The choice of patinated bronze highlights the finesse of the details and the quality of the craftsmanship, recalling the prestigious creations of the 19th century. The urns held by the figures are decorated with cloisonné enamels on the top. This technique, famous for its colorful and detailed patterns, adds a vibrant and elegant touch to the lamp. Cloisonné enamels were highly prized at the time for their ability to bring color and complexity to decorative objects.

Base and Structure

The base of the lamp is made of green portor marble, a material renowned for its robustness and elegance. Green portor marble is known for its unique veins and shades, making it a preferred choice for luxurious decor pieces. The base is 4.2 cm thick, providing a solid and stable base for the lamp. This thickness not only ensures the stability of the object but also highlights the natural beauty of the marble.

Bulb Cover Tulip

The bulb cover tulip is in marmoreal colored glass, signed Muller Frères in Lunéville. The Muller brothers were famous for their glass creations, and their signature is synonymous with quality and craftsmanship. Marmoreal glass, with its varied shades and textures, diffuses a soft and pleasant light, creating a warm and welcoming atmosphere.

Style and Inspiration

This lamp is part of the Barbedienne style, an emblematic style of the 19th century which combines elegance and richness of materials. Ferdinand Barbedienne, a famous art founder, popularized this style by producing works that combined bronze, enamels and marble with great sophistication. The lamp reflects this influence through its use of precious materials and attention to artistic detail.

Dimensions and Features

The lamp is designed to be functional while remaining an object of art. It has an adjustable height, with a minimum of 73 cm, allowing it to be adapted to different environments and needs. The width of the lamp is 31.5 cm, which gives it an imposing presence without being obtrusive. These balanced dimensions allow the lamp to fit harmoniously into various spaces, while attracting attention with its beauty and refinement.

Conclusion

In short, this old 19th century lamp is an exceptional piece, combining luxurious materials such as bronze, marble and marmoreal glass, with refined artisanal techniques such as cloisonné enamels. It embodies the Barbedienne style, famous for its artistic richness and superior quality. With its adjustable dimensions and elegant design, this lamp is not only a utilitarian object but also a true work of art that will bring a touch of distinction to any interior.
