Description

Léon KANN (1859-1925)Gilt chased bronze vide-poche of circular form with a naturalistic high-relief decoration of violets and their foliage, signed L. Kann on the rim.France. Art Nouveau period (circa 1900).D_13 cmVery good condition.A major sculptor and ceramist of the Art Nouveau period, Léon Kann was one of the emblematic collaborators of the Manufacture nationale de Sèvres and the Siot-Decauville firm. Deeply inspired by plant-based forms and organic lines, he excelled in the creation of small decorative art objects in which the decoration of fresh flowers -- here the violet -- appears to bloom naturally on the surface of the bronze, perfectly embodying the grace of the 1900 style.Our gilt bronze vide-poche by Léon Kann, part of the fine tradition of Art Nouveau art
