Description

In a very Chinese representation, here are two very beautiful decorative elements of furniture in high relief. In bronze, with a red-brown and gold patina, they represent water dragons, one with an open mouth, the two with outstretched claws.

Several holes for fixing to a support or piece of furniture.

Very good condition, without break or flaw, please note on the back some traces of paint and gilding, very little wear.

European working, probably French, of Chinese inspiration, dating from the second part of the 19th century.
