Description

I offer you this elegant dresser buffet from the Second Empire period, direct from a Sologne hunting property. The fin de siècle Renaissance style, we quickly fall into a certain sentimentality of the new bourgeois of the time, and well not at all, there we settle in Sologne, we build a pretty house and we furnish it with furniture like this one which is also inspired by the black forest, we get closer to nature with its sculpted handles, imitating the branches. It has its period blown window and its upper shelves are three in number. It is well made, in solid oak wood. In good used condition.
