Description

This pair of 1930s Kaiser Idell lamps, designed by Christian Dell, is an iconic example of industrial design and the Bauhaus movement. With their scissor-articulated arm mechanism, they allow precise adjustment of height and angle. Made of lacquered metal with chrome finishes, they combine functionality and refined aesthetics. The stable base and dome-shaped lampshade provide optimal lighting. These lamps, both elegant and durable, are sought-after collector's items, perfect for adding a sophisticated touch to any space.
