Description

The Groene Rei bridge in Bruges, illustrated in the color engraving, numbered and signed by Gielis Pierre, is an invitation to travel back in time. This stone bridge, dating from the Middle Ages, is a silent witness to past centuries, where each stone tells a story of daily life and trade in Bruges. Renowned artist Gielis Pierre has captured the essence of this historic place with exceptional precision and sensitivity. Its color engraving evokes the serenity of the Groenerei canal, where the golden reflections of the sun dance on the calm waters, and where the arches of the bridge stand out with majesty. Acquiring this work, numbered and signed by Gielis Pierre, is to own a fragment of the history of Bruges, a city where the past blends harmoniously with the present. The engraving does not just represent the
