Description

Four-shelf bookcase in light walnut, Emilia area, second half of the nineteenth century.

A versatile piece of furniture with a limited depth, ideal for any space.

The étagère is composed of three shelves measuring 110 cm in length and depths of 26 23 and 18 cm supported and held together by turned legs and uprights.

The two smaller upper shelves are surrounded on three sides

by a wooden rod that joins the pinnacles and prevents objects from accidentally falling.

The height available on the shelves varies from 26 to 30 cm

Restored and polished with shellac with wax finish
