

Pedestal Table In Solid Mahogany 19th Century

1 450 EUR

Period : 19th century

Condition : Restauré par notre atelier

Material : Solid wood

Description

Splendid and sober mahogany pedestal sail table; mahogany is of exceptional quality and has fascinating veins; the top has a refined round shape; very original is the solid mahogany foot, worked excellently with patterns that connect in an elegant and harmonious way, from which three curvilinear legs with pleasant carved work on the wood depart; the legs are equipped with small wheels which allow the table to be moved easily and comfortably. This refined table adapts to any environment, whether furnished with antique or modern furniture. Very decorative, it is very practical thanks to its sail top (a system designed in England during the Victorian era) which can be positioned vertically where more space is needed. Made in France between 1850 and 1855 in the Louis Philippe style. The pedestal table is in good
