Description

Description:
Gilded bronze and green patina.
This astonishing portico decoration was created in its time as a shop sign, church altar decoration for example, or.....
It is made up of a sinuous stem carrying vine branches, ears of barley and their leaves. In order to be able to present it for use, it was based on two gilded wooden bases. A bronze fleuron grips the two stems.
This assembly will also allow you to use the two disassembled parts and make two lamp bases.

Condition
Very good condition, completely renovated and ready to be reused.

I acquired the lot from an old bronze maker. There are various bronze elements or accessories from all periods, this type of supply is difficult to find especially for large models, therefore very decorative. I will present several models, and you can call me for a specific request that I can resolve if I also have this bronze element.
