Description

These finely crafted gilt bronze ewers feature intricately vegetal openwork bodies characteristic of the Art Nouveau period. The scrolled and foliated handles are gracefully curved, adding to the overall aesthetic appeal. These masterfully crafted items rest on a pedestal with ovoid and acanthus leaves. The combination of the gilt bronze and the red Pyrenees marble bases creates a striking contrast, highlighting the craftsmanship and historical value of these early 20th century decorative art objects. These ewers exemplify the fine craftsmanship and attention to decorative detail of the period. ***** Period: 1910
