Description

This wrought iron table lamp from the 1940s represents a coconut tree with many fruits and abundant palms, which makes it very decorative, lively, and suitable, thanks to its natural black patina, to fit successfully into many interiors. Its particular shape allows it to be seen from a low angle, and its weight makes it particularly stable. It has been dressed by us with a lampshade in designer fabric and silk trimmings, representing stylized feathers whose bright colors enhance the mattness of the iron.
