Description

Child's head in white Carrara marble, 18th century (?), 25cm. Beautiful white Carrara marble head of monumental proportions representing a child, probably a young offspring. Probably from the 18th century. The head measures 25cm high x 18.5cm wide. The height with the base is 38 cm.

The sculpture is in good condition, only the nose is chipped, it also has some porosities and encrustations that seem of marine origin, but in any case they are all caused by time. We enclose a certificate of authenticity.
