Beautiful and rare 18th century altarpiece or altar piece in gilded wood and painted wood representing the arms of Saint Peter, first bishop of Rome, with his miter and the intertwined keys used to open the chains of the gates of paradise. Good general condition despite some visible gaps in the photos, beautiful old gilding and original polychromy.

A beautiful and rare sculpted representation in softwood that has withstood the ravages of time despite some gaps.

A rather unusual allegorical representation of Saint Peter.
