Description

Very beautiful 18th century Provencal chest of drawers in fruit wood; it opens with five drawers, three of which are in the upper part, the two other lower drawers occupy its entire width imitating false drawers in the center in order to perfect the harmony of the lines of the three facades.At the front, it rests on two volute feet (or so-called escarcots) mounted on small faceted heels, its facade offers a so-called crossbow line, as does the cutout of the top which harmonizes with it. Its very cut-out lower crosspiece is alternated with small volutes and you will have noticed that the vertical is punctuated by six bands of fluting, the two of which adorn the uprights of the sides are in relief.Despite its age, this chest of drawers is in good condition and does not present any notable defects or worm-eaten parts.It is of course worth
