Description

These vintage curtains with their fruit design of apples, pineapples and grapes framed by exotic plants and flowers are absolutely charming!

The fact that they are lined adds a touch of elegance and functionality, while the gathered trim and flat pleats at the top of each panel show careful tailoring and attention to detail.

They look like a lovely way to add an exotic touch to any room. Measuring 247cm in length and 132cm in width, these curtains are quite large, making them suitable for large windows or patio doors.

They should add a lovely splash of colour and pattern to a room, whilst providing generous coverage. They could also be used to divide spaces or as a decorative feature in an interior, These vintage curtains actually look like a perfect choice for adding character to a dining room, kitchen or conservatory.

Their exotic fruit and flower pattern will bring a welcoming and vibrant atmosphere, especially in spaces where colours and patterns can be highlighted.

Dining room: They could bring a touch of freshness and conviviality, complementing wooden furniture or country or vintage style decoration.

Kitchen: Their bright pattern and texture could brighten up the space while adding a touch of retro charm, especially if the kitchen has wrought iron elements or vintage details.

Conservatory: The curtains would fit well in a conservatory, creating a pleasant and bright space while offering a little privacy.

They could be particularly attractive if the conservatory is surrounded by greenery or if it is decorated in an exotic style.
