Description

In 1958, I remember;... Saint Nicholas had brought me the same puppets... I remember that the curtain of my little theater slid with a string that refused to stay up, I remember that my audience was not large... A teddy bear, my new plush sign is about all my spectators: my little sister was not yet born. Still, it did not take more for my imagination to develop lots of scenarios.... I had the same ones in 1958 Four papier-mâché puppets; in perfect condition, original clothes, superb
