Description

Beautiful pair of gilded bronze wall lights in the style of hunting horns.

The support plate forms two fabric pendants held at the top by a knotted ribbon and finished with pompoms.

The branches represent hunting horns attached to the center by a ribbon.

The edge of the pavilions is chiseled with a biased fillet.

The sockets are molded. Beautiful original gilding with some minor wear.

Very discreetly pierced for electrification.

Louis XVI period. Good condition.

NB: one end of the ribbon redone.

Very pretty model of wall lights that are difficult to find, especially in this condition.
